

Sepsiszentgyörgy, Romania (Virtual mobility)

22 – 27 November 2021

Unfortunately, due to the coronavirus epidemic, we couldn't travel to Erdély (Romania), so our hosts from Sepsiszentgyörgy organized a one week long virtual program series with many tasks and challenges.

For example we had to create a video about a traditional healthy food in Hungary. We decided that it would be great fun to cook together and show our viewers how to cook Lecsó in our school's kitchen. We had a great time recording the video and preparing the meal, which turned out to be really delicious. We were also looking forward to the videos from the other countries.

We also had online meetings where we discussed the similarities and the differences between each countries' eating habits.

We also had to make a short film about how and where our students spend their lunch breaks, so we got our cameras and interviewed some of our students. Many of our students contributed to making the video.

By the end of the week every country had uploaded their work on our Google drive, so all of our English speaking students could watch and learn about cultural diversity in connection with eating habits and school food.

Thanks to our Romanian partners we could make the most of our virtual mobility during this week.
